Worcestershire Primary Care Trust. The Primary Care Trust was set up in October 2006 and is responsible for improving the health and well-being for the population of 558,000 people in Worcestershire.

This year we are commemorating 60 years of the National Health Service on Saturday, 5 July and this provides us with an opportunity to celebrate achievements and look towards health services of the future. NHS 60 activity locally will involve NHS staff, patients, carers and the community - in fact anyone who cares about the NHS.
